Whispering in the distance of the then and elsewhere

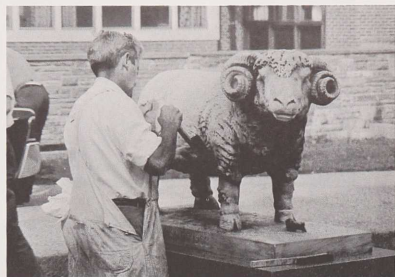

A kind of masque was forming

Toward this place, this time, this now,

And here in chalk dust, cannon rust, all night talks, and lonely walks

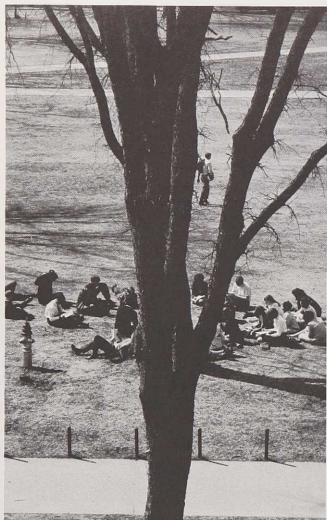

The production would be staged.

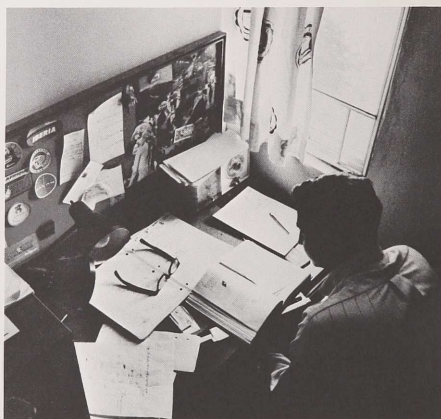

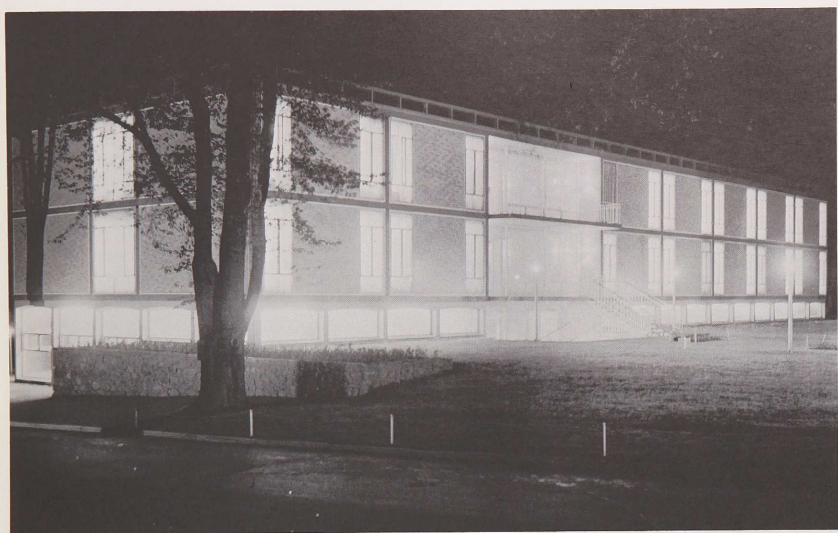

All the props were ready;

Bookshelf to beer mug was clean

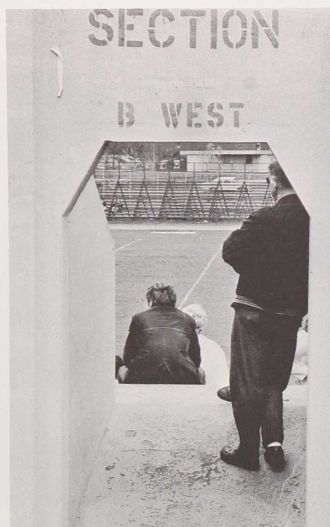

And the bright and gleaming pageant

Would dance on and in between.

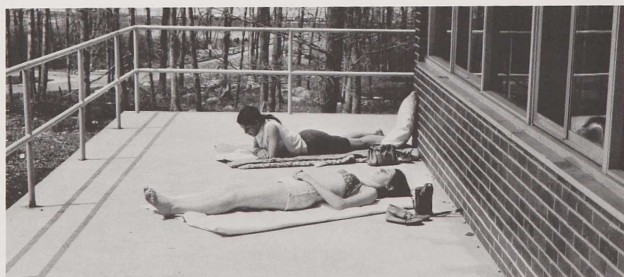

This stage was self-contained

And mimicked all the world which watched it unaware

That behind the antiquated norms
in our antiseptic dorms;

Beyond the groaning granite shells and bargains which the bookstore sells

Even the babble of electric-throated bells

student senate

Serving as the official voice of student opinion, in an increasingly forthright manner the University Student Senate, under the capable direction of President Phil Beauchamp, has worked conscientiously and responsibly to enhance mutual understanding with administration and faculty. In addition to a continual and beneficial concern with self-definition and direction, the Student Senate has aimed its energies at such issues of student concern as the operation of the bookstore, a student bill of rights, course evaluation, and more realistic final exam schedules. Although the Senate was unsuccessful in its diligent and realistic support of a proposed student-faculty on-campus bar, the fact of its inquiry into this and other relevant issues, such as student representation on the Faculty Senate, speaks of a growing and responsible concern by the student government to enhance educational and social opportunities at the University.

association of women students

The Association of Women Students, beyond its functions of coordinating women's activities, and protecting the interests of women students, has, as always, involved itself with a wide range of both campus and cultural affairs. Under President JoAnn Sisco, A.W.S., in addition to sponsoring such activities as the Winter Weekend Queen Contest and MERC Week, has realized its ambition of establishing a women's self-regulatory hours system. Once again, A.W.S. has shown itself to be an exceptionally active and dynamic force within the student government of the University.

inter-fraternity council

Dedicated to a belief in the "Greek Way" and to the fact that the fraternity system is an integral part of the campus community, the University's Inter-fraternity Council has promoted the intellectual, social, and moral development of the large segment of students which it represents. Under the leadership of President Ron Young, the responsible cooperation among the I.F.C.'s eighteen member houses in fraternity and university affairs, as well as in community service projects, has set an example in which the entire campus can take pride.

Coordinating social, scholastic, and philanthropic activities for ten national sororities, the Panhellenic Association of the University serves as the governing body for the campus's sorority women. The work of the association is carried out by the Panhellenic Council, this year under the leadership of President Susan Hurry, and includes the promotion of good scholarship, high social standards, and a deep commitment to sorority, campus, and community affairs.

The Judicial Board, despite its rather austere name, provides students with an opportunity for exercising mature and responsible self-discipline, an essential facet of a valid college experience. Serving as an intermediary between the administration and the students themselves, the Judicial Board considers cases involving infractions of residence regulations and in this capacity has proven itself an effective means of self-government.

blue key

Blue Key, the University's honorary host organization, not only takes charge of conducting visitors and new students about the campus, but also handles all of the ushering for the University's many lectures, convocations, and musical performances. In addition to this continuing service to the University, the society also sponsors, during the second semester, the ever popular Blue Key Charity Bazaar which provides both entertainment and substantial contributions to charity.

Despite the obstacles of alleged student apathy and the epic spectacle of the Friday night exodus from Kingston Hill, the Union Board of Directors seldom finds respite from their continual work of providing the campus community with a full round of recreational and educational activities. Dances, art exhibits, movies, lectures, and musical performances are but a few of the opportunities made available to all students through the diligent planning and coordination of the Union Board.

Mortar Board, a national senior women's honor society, is composed of from five to twenty-five women chosen from the senior class on the basis of leadership and scholarship. Formerly Laurels, the society constitutes the newest of Mortar Board's 125 chapters. With Alicia Parente as president, the major project of Mortar Board this year has been the monumental task of organizing the University's first Faculty/Course Evaluation Program. This publication should be an invaluable aid to all students faced with perennial problems of pre-registration.

Perhaps the outcome of an honest education is the realization that service, hard work, and dedication are their own rewards. An honorary service organization typifying this ideal, the Sachems, is composed of seniors who are "tapped" in the spring of their junior year, on the basis of active participation in campus activities and on scholastic achievement.

beacon

The Beacon, the student newspaper, undoubtedly generates more visible excitement, short of a mass exodus to Iggy's, than any other weekly occurrence on campus. The hordes of students descending upon the Union desk each Wednesday noon, upon the Beacon's arrival, are a testament to the competence, imagination, and hard work of the Beacon staff and to the relevance of the paper's voice on campus.

grist

This is the Grist, a product of countless hours of selecting, planning, and designing. Neither scrapbook, nor catalogue, the Grist, under the editorship of Jane Breslow, seeks merely to convey a moment through time. The Grist, like the college experience itself, represents a process of separating the worthwhile from the trivial, a process which by its very nature cannot pretend to be all things to all people. But if the final product can in some measure convey the spirit of these times, these places, and these people, then the hard work of the Grist staff will be justified. These pages can never recreate our life here; they can only remind. This is their purpose; this is the Grist.

commuters

Although with the continual construction of dormitory facilities, one would be led to believe that the University is becoming an exclusively residential institution, however a glance at the commuter parking lots and the second floor of the Memorial Union quickly dispels this notion. Accompanying the increase in size, which has made the spacious new facilities of three years ago barely adequate, the two commuters' organizations, the Wayfarers and the Mens Commuters, have increased their activities as well. The family atmosphere of the Commuters' Lounge seems to disprove the old adage that the only way to go to college is to live there.

ram band

Anyone who was in the vicinity of the Fine Arts Center during the weeks prior to the beginning of the Fall Semester does not need to be told how the Ram Band earned the title, "The best in the cast." Practicing day and night, while the rest of the student body basked in the late summer sun, "that Ram Band" prepared for another outstanding year, which included three concerts at Expo 67 in Montreal. Under the direction of Donald B. Burns, now on sabbatical in Mexico, the band's 128 musicians proved time and time again that there is no substitution for excellence.

cheerleaders

Perhaps the most loyal and enthusiastic of all of Rhody's sports fans, the spirited Cheerleaders lend that extra note of excitement to the host of sports contests throughout the year.

who's who

Chosen from the ranks of the Senior Class, the members of Who's Who comprise a justifiably select group of outstanding individuals whose record of scholastic achievement and campus involvement is indeed enviable. These seniors have distinguished themselves in many areas of activity, not only in their final year, but throughout their campus careers. Of the members as a whole it might be noted that seldom has so much been accomplished for so many by so few.

class officers

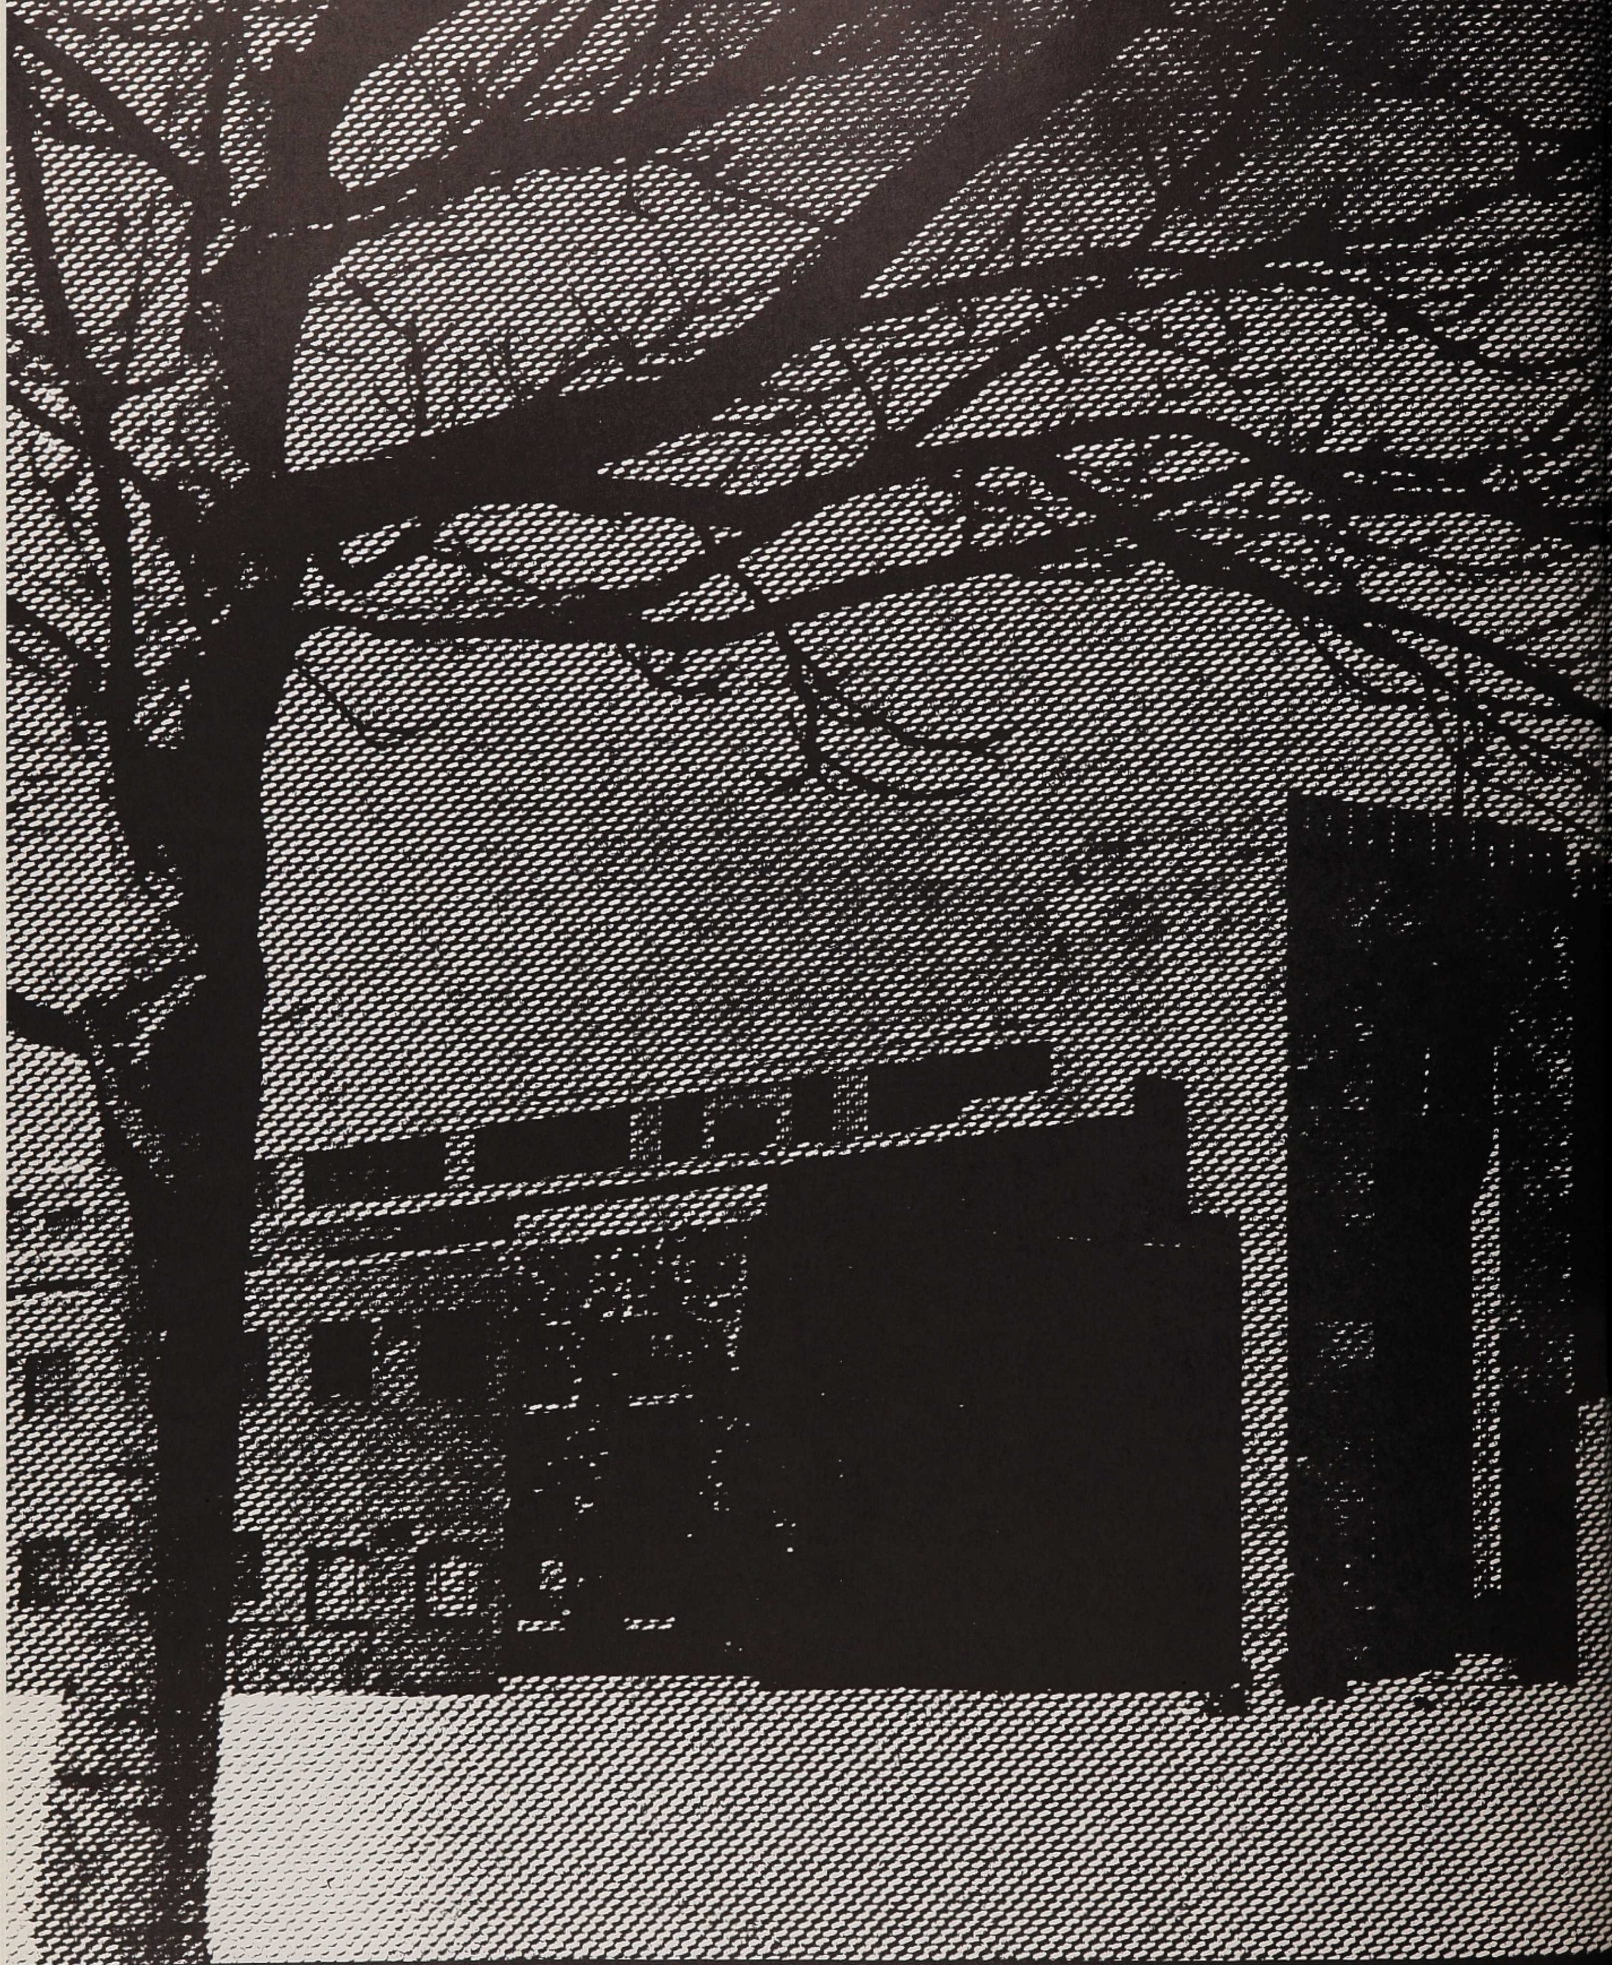

The Class Officers are involved with many facets of University activities. In their roles as leaders for the various classes, they have worked to accomplish the objectives for which they were chosen. Undaunted by protests, over the very necessity of their existence, these campus leaders remain an integral part of student government at the University. Considering the enormous responsibility entrusted to them, the officers have done a commendable job. In view, however, of the poor turnout at the polls, it would seem that student enthusiasm for self-government is on the wane; but diligent efforts on the part of those elected have overshadowed the lack of student involvement in class activities. Thus, the system of class officers remains a valid expression of the determined effort of the conscientious few in the service of many.

football

An outstanding season for Rhody football began with three straight victories for the U.R.I. Rams, including the first homecoming victory in twelve years. The major disappointment of the season was the narrow-margin loss to the University of Massachusetts (28-24) which kept the Yankee Conference Crown from coming to Kingston. The Rams made a triumphant comeback, however, with the crushing defeat of Bucknell (27-7) at Kingston which launched yet another winning streak for the team.

Throughout the season, quarterback Larry Caswell, who set a national record by attempting close to 400 passes with only one interception, chose as a favorite receiver Rhody's all-conference end, Frank Geiselman. Geiselman was drafted at the end of the season by the Green Bay Packers. Another senior selected by a pro ball club was Co-Captain Howie Small, who was drafted by the Minnesota Vikings. Other players graduating after four years of Rhody football include Co-Captain Dave O'Donnell, Ed Kassak, Bob Huston, and Tom Ricci.

SOCCER

The Ram's Soccer team emerged from its 1967-68 season with the most successful record to date. Coach Butler's hustling eleven were led by Captain Ray Rainville, Yankee Conference selection Chuck Samaras, and consistently high scoring Ed Bradley and Dave Parsons. This has been a year of exceptional improvement and next year's squad looks even better with the strong returning veterans.

To judge the real success of a particular sports season on the merits of the scoreboard alone is next to meaningless. The Cross Country Team is a case in point. Without a strong nucleus of exceptional distance runners, the harriers performed well under considerable handicaps. Of special note were the performances of Charlie McGinnis and Ken Skelley and although the team placed fifth in the Yankee Conference, the undefeated freshman team holds excellent prospects for a very good season next year.

basketball

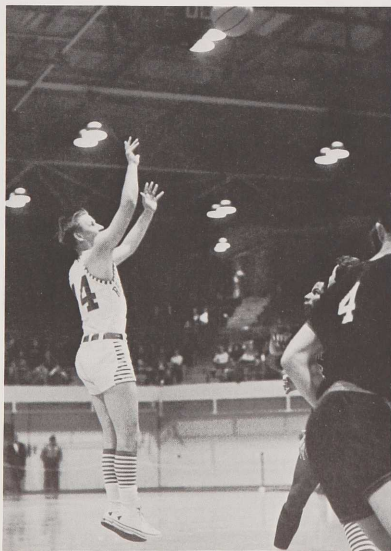

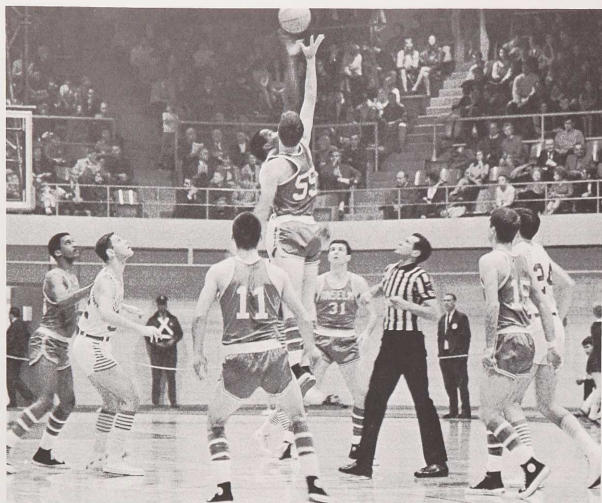

The 1967-68 Basketball season was noteworthy for several reasons. Foremost was the resignation of the Ram's head coach, Ernie Calverly, following eleven years of guiding URI teams to so many exciting victories. The season, itself, was highlighted by an 8-2 Yankee Conference record which brought a tie for first place once again to Kingston. Art Stephenson, co-captain of the Rams, led all scorers with a 20.8 average and broke two URI rebounding records—most rebounds in a single game, 28 (URI vs. Brown), and most rebounds in a single season, 420. Co-captain Larry Johnson finished the season as second highest scorer with a 17.2 average. Outstanding sophomore, John Fultz, contributed an average of 16.8 points per game. Although prospects for next year might seem dim because of the loss of four seniors, including Bob Knight and Steve Kopitko, the 14-3 record of the freshman team holds bright promises for the future.

wrestling

The record of the wrestling team is not an accurate measure of either the efforts of the team or the obstacles confronting them this season. Although injuries are to be expected, the team suffered more than its share and this, as well as undefeated Chris Regula's transfer to Colgate, put the team to some disadvantage in their matches. Had more former high school wrestlers shown greater interest, the team would not have had to forfeit in as many weight classes, and the team's total record would have been more commensurate with the spirit and drive of those wrestlers on the roster.

The third year of URI crew intercollegiate competition was highlighted by the defeat of Buffalo State, previously undefeated in eight races, which resulted in the capture of the Brian O'Hara trophy by the Rhody oarsmen. In other races the team was forced to yield to several top ranked crews by a narrow margin of one second or less. Faced with the loss of graduating seniors, Herb Gumpwright and Dave Pruden, next year's team will include several of this season's promising junior varsity and frosh oarsmen.

The hard work and many hours of practice that the U.R.I. track team spent this year was well payed off in their excellent record. Their fine performance against all opposition is a tribute to their conscientious efforts.

The URI sailors have brought yet another victorious season to a close. During the fall and spring legs of the sailing season, Coach Ned Caswell's sailors raced 49 different schools and at one regatta or another beat every one of them with the three exceptions of Navy, Coast Guard, and the University of Michigan. The team also captured the Hoyte Trophy in competition with B.U., Brown, Harvard, Risd, Tufts, and Yale. After having won the Yankee Conference Championship here at Kingston, the Ram sailors finished the season by placing 8th in the Neisa dingy championships at Yale.

freshman convocation

The largest Freshman Convocation in the University's history this year heard acting president F. Don James exhort the class to learn to make learning an exciting and challenging adventure. With a reminder from Dr. James that the next four years would be among the most important in life, the Class of 1971 officially began its college career at U.R.I.

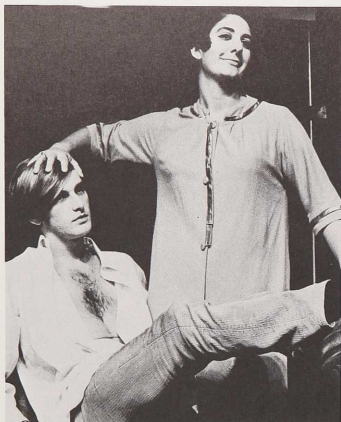

convocations

Although convocations have become almost a physical impossibility owing to the size of student body, the University still manages to bring a majority of its student body and faculty together for the official opening of each college year. In addition to the all-University convocation, there is also the Interfraternity Council Freshman Convocation designed to introduce Freshmen to the Greek System on campus. There is also the Annual Honors Convocation which recognizes student groups as well as individuals who have shown outstanding scholastic ability.

university theatre

The University theatre, through cooperative efforts, has presented six outstanding productions. The time and effort contributed by the participants in this organization can be seen in the smooth and professional outcome of any of their plays.

eileen farrell

Singing in four languages, New York Metropolitan Opera Soprano, Miss Eileen Farrell was recalled to the stage five times by enthusiastic opera fans at Keaney Gym. Sponsored by the U.R.I. Arts Council, Miss Farrell, who is a native of Rhode Island, presented the fourth in a series of five cultural events this year. No stranger to U.R.I., Eileen Farrell was awarded an honorary degree by former president, Dr. Francis H. Horn, in 1961 following her debut at the Met the previous year.

sean o'casey's play

Sean O'Casey's play, Pictures in the Hallway is the story of O'Casey's awakening to the inconsistencies of life and love during the Irish uprising. His plays have a surprisingly effective impact on his audience making his plays applicable to the times.

la orchestra national francaais

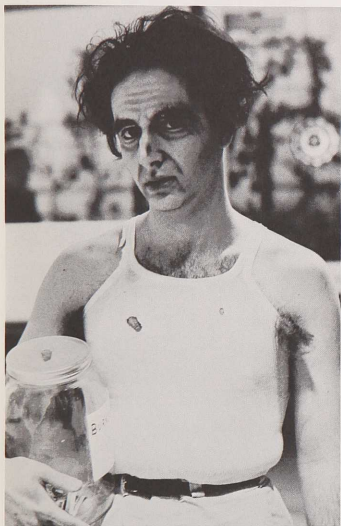

Music can have a totally encompassing effect on an audience when it is played as the composer imagined. La Orchestra National Francaais accomplished this when they performed and allowed us to share with the true beauty of their work.

paddy murphy's wake

Following a tradition observed since the 1930's, Theta Chi Fraternity celebrates St. Patrick's Day each year with Paddy Murphy's Wake. It seems, however, that it is indeed hard to keep a good man down and amidst the weeping, wailing, and gnashing of teeth on the Quadrangle, Paddy solemnly rises from his doom to lecture his many mourners on the evils of alcohol. Unfortunately Paddy never seems to learn his own lesson and one can count on him to be dead to the world again on next St. Patrick's Day.

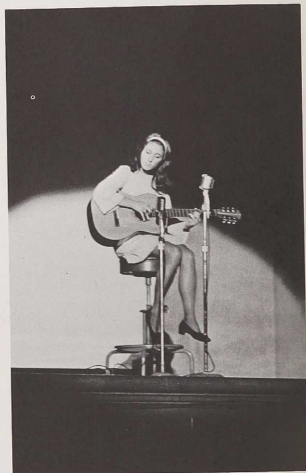

umoc

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, established a new campus tradition this year by sponsoring the first "Ugly Man on Campus Contest". One contestant from each men's residence as well as commuter's association was eligible and Mike Kaprilian of Phi Sigma Delta won the honor of being the ugliest man on campus. During the one-week contest, Alpha Phi Omega collected close to six-hundred dollars, all of which was contributed to charity.

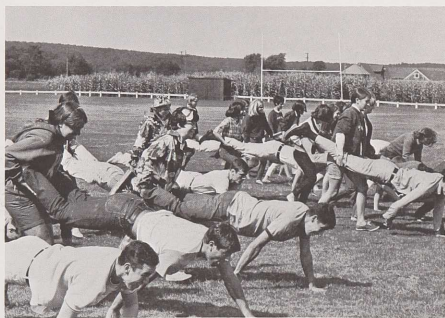

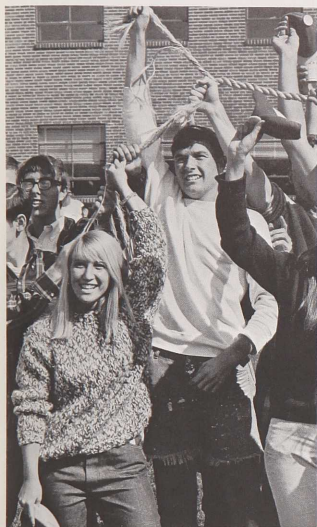

rhody night

The return to campus in the fall, laden as it is with the memories of a waning summer and the anticipation of another long cold winter on Kingston Hill, is cheered by the annual attraction of Rhody Night. No longer graced by faculty participation, whose award-winning performances are now confined solely to the classroom, Rhody Night was nonetheless a success since most of the evenings attractions were presented by lovely campus coeds.

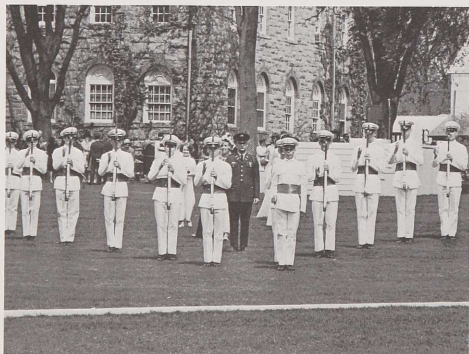

freek day

In an attempt to expose the incoming Freshmen to the Greek System on campus, the Interfraternity Council sponsored the first annual Freek Day this past fall. A day of contests and games saw the frosh pitted against the Greeks (hence the term freek) in such competition as the three-legged race, balloon blowing, baby bottle chug, and volley-ball, not to mention the tug-of-war which ended prematurely when the rope snapped. With incoming Freshmen classes increasing continually in size, the activities of Freek Day should provide an interesting and enjoyable introduction for Freshmen to the Greek Way.

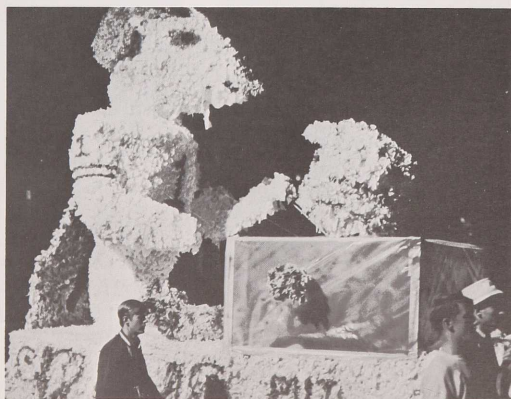

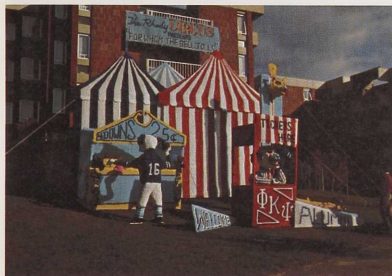

open house

Open House provides an opportunity for parents and friends to visit the University campus. The day began with a luncheon at Butterfield Hall which was followed by an Interscholastic Track Meet at Meade Field. Highlight of the afternoon was the Military Parade and crowning of the University queen, Miss Jo-ann Sisco, on the University's quadrangle. The day's events came to a close with a Band and Symphonic Wind Ensemble concert at the Fine Arts Center.

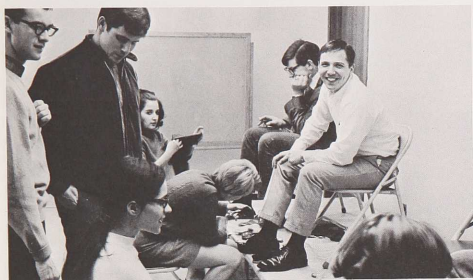

homecoming rally

homecoming displays

Homecoming is a time of excitement for young and old alike as undergraduates and alumni join together at Kingston to cheer for the home team. On Friday night the spirit and enthusiasm of the traditional torchlight football rally is carried over into long hours of work on the annual homecoming displays. Competing with all housing units on campus, Phi Kappa Psi, Adams Hall, Chi Omega, and Tucker Hall won the honors on Saturday for first place displays. Sophomore, Miss Toni Harris from Los Angeles California was crowned homecoming queen.

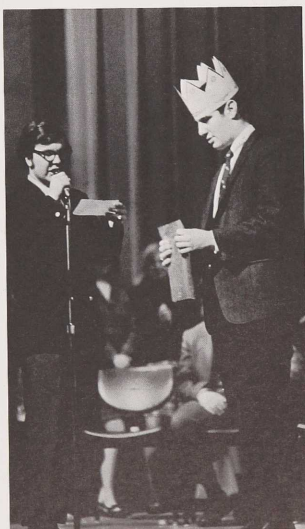

merc week

A popular campus tradition, at least among the male segment of the student body, is the Association of Women Student's annual Merc Week. Male Economic Recovery Week includes some reduced rates for girls and their dates as well as a shoe shine and the crowning of the Merc King, who this year was Jay H. Monaghan of Phi Mu Delta. A boost to the male ego as well as wallet, Merc Week constitutes a sort of week-long Sadie Hawkin's Day at U.R.I.

MERC WEEK

1. The girl must Merc her date.
2. The girl must pick up her date.
3. She must open any doors for him.
4. She must walk on the outside of the street to avoid her date from being hit by mud.
5. She must stand up when her date enters the room, and ask him if he'd like a seat.
6. She must pull out his chair.
7. She must carry her date's books when she sees him on campus.
8. She must light her date's cigarettes.
9. She must help him with his coat.
10. She must pay for food bought in 'Pan's Den'.
11. All boys must sign in and out.
12. The girl must be sure her date gets in before his curfew.

blue key bazaar

The Blue Key Society's annual Charity Bazaar held in Keaney Gymnasium this year raised almost seventeen-hundred dollars for charity. Over thirty residence units constructed booths for the Bazaar and awards went to Theta Delta Chi and Sigma Kappa as well as Burnside and Weldin Halls as top money-earners in their respective divisions for the night. Sandy Famiglietti, representing Theta Chi, became this year's Bazaar queen.

lovin' spoonfuls

union gap

richard pryor

One of the highlights of the spring semester was the performance by the Lovin' Spoonful, the Union Gap and Richard Pryor sponsored by the Class Officers. The Lovin' Spoonful with such hits as "Summer In the City", "Do you Believe in Magic", & "Daydream", combined with the Union Gap with "Women, Women" and "Young Girl" and Richard Pryor's new dynamic routines produced a very successful evening.

greek week

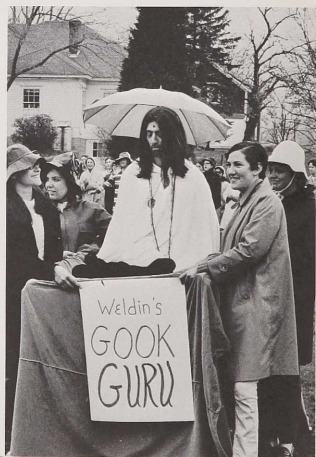

One of the major highlights of each Spring for the fraternities and sororities on campus is Greek Week. Beginning on Sunday with the Greek Sing competition, the week also includes the Miss University of Rhode Island contest which selected Miss Linda Aitkin as Miss U.R.I. Saturday's activities included a football game, the Medley Relay, tug-of-war, and chariot appearance and race. Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity received first place for chariot appearance and Sigma Alpha Epsilon finished first in the chariot race to become first place winner with Alpha Delta Pi Sorority of Greek Week 1968.

sigma chi derby

The Sigma Chi Derby, begun at UCLA in the early thirties, has been a popular campus attraction for the past nineteen years. Designed to stimulate competition among the women's housing units, the Derby includes the popular Miss Legs contest as well as tug-of-war and Derby Steal. The housing unit compiling the most points is awarded the Bronze Derby which may be retired only after three consecutive wins by the same residence.

mitsch ryder

Mitch Ryder and his New Sock and Soul Rhythm and Blues Band provided the musical key-note to this year's Winter Weekend festivities. Sponsored by the Union Board and the Class Executive Council, the popular group performed before an estimated eleven thousand persons in Keaney Gym. During the intermission, Miss Arlene Knowles, representing Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity, was crowned Winter Weekend Queen.

african ballet

christmas tree decorating contest

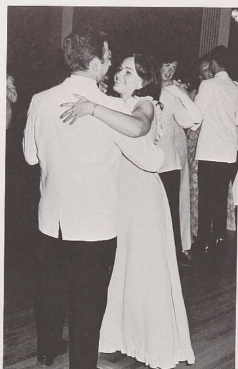

Lending a note of Christmas cheer to an otherwise somber setting, Alpha Phi Omega each year sponsors a Christmas tree decorating contest in front of the Administration building on campus. Housing units from all over converge on the Administration lawn for a few frantic hours of creative tree trimming which usually results in everything from the traditional to the psychedelic. This year's winning entry was the tree decorated by Sigma Chi Fraternity.

las vegas night

In conjunction with the Memorial Union Birthday celebration, the Union Board of Directors sponsored Las Vegas Night. Various games of chance as well as the establishment of a gambling casino constituted perhaps the closest thing to organized loose living ever seen on Kingston Hill. Fortunately, however, the money was phony and so few students went home any closer to bankruptcy than when they arrived. Overall winners of the various contests were Delta Delta Delta Sorority, Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity, Adams Hall and a tie between Peck and Roosevelt Halls.

junior prom

The Junior Prom, sponsored by the Junior class, was held at the Grist Mill. Music was supplied by the Others and Ed Drew's Orchestra. Marilyn Harris was crowned as queen of the Junior prom.

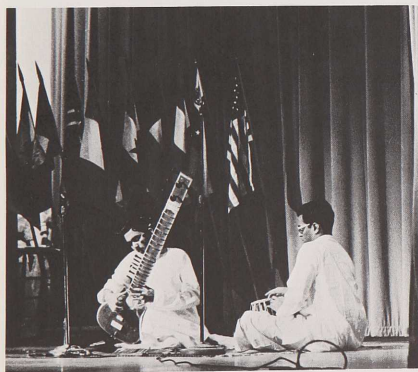

military ball

Following a cocktail hour and dinner at the Quonset Officer's Club, the forty-first annual Military Ball was held in the Memorial Union. Highlighting the year's ball were the Kentish Fife and Drum Corps, a precision drill team from East Greenwich, and the Kingston Guards, a ROTC unit. Chosen queen of the Military Ball was Miss Cheryl Ann Ranucci of West Warwick, R. I. and a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority. Miss Ranucci, a member of the Ramettes, was made ROTC Brigade's honorary commander by Colonel Mauric Belisle and Miss Barbara Ann E. Trexel, the retiring Coed-Colonel.

international ball

Each year the All Nations Club of the University presents the International Ball. This year's ball, representing more than fifty countries, boasted a theme of "The World as a Community of Many Nations" and provided a unique opportunity for fellow students to become better acquainted while spending an enjoyable and entertaining evening. The highlight of the festivities, the coronation of the International Ball Queen, Janet Hiscox, a freshman in Nursing, brought the World Festival to a splendid close.

international talent show

The fifth annual International Talent Show provided its audience with a cultural tour ranging from the Far East to the United States. Emcees Shadrach Ndam and Alan Burl introduced such acts as Persian folk songs, Indian sitar music, and a Judo demonstration as well as Chinese Cup Dance and Swedish courting songs. The evening proved to be both an enlightening and enjoyable cultural experience for all in attendance.

and so the masque is ended the pageant moves off into silence and passes from the scene.

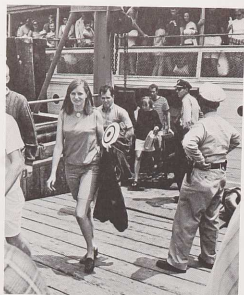

and all the props are clean.

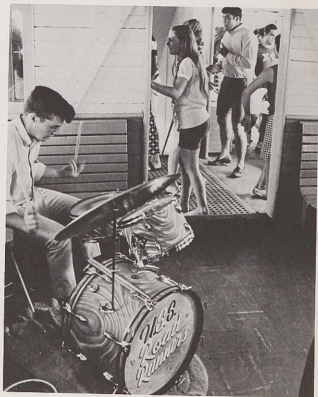

and all the actors and their moment
upon the stage;

those here who somehow understood

with those who here somehow never would,

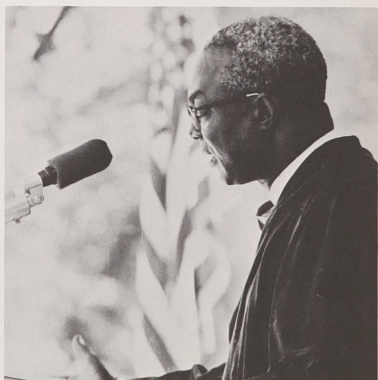

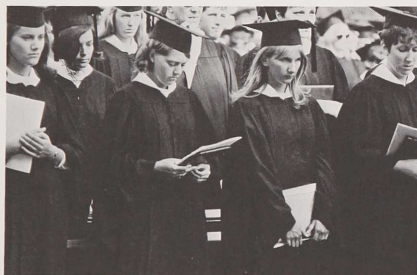

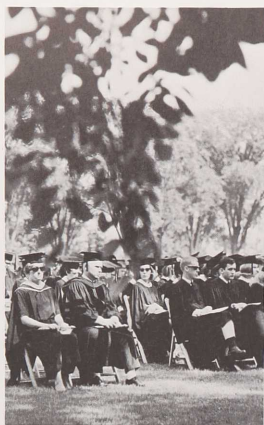

will give meaning to tomorrow's then and otherwise

for the very special few who sing the special songs to whom this masque belongs.
